BTG Pactual is committed to safeguarding the privacy and protecting the personal data of its customers and, hence, would like to further explain to the Data Subject about how their data is processed.

1. To whom does this policy apply?

The terms of this policy refer to the personal data of BTG Pactual costumers.

2. What is the purpose of this policy?

This policy is intended to clarify BTG Pactual's concern and importance in respecting the confidentiality, legitimacy of information and privacy of its customers' personal data, as well as inform them about the use of their personal data and their respective interaction with other products and services offered by BTG Pactual.

This Privacy Policy contains information on the processing and protection of users' personal data, in order to demonstrate transparency on the matter and to instruct how customers can manage their personal information.

3. Basic terms: what do you need to know to understand this policy?

To simplify the reading, BTG Pactual presents some useful definitions for your interpretation:

Term	Concept
Privacy Laws and Regulations	As a financial institution, BTG Pactual is subject to sector-specific regulations and therefore to the obligations they impose, in addition to the privacy and data protection laws applicable locally. They bring new rules and more protective principles for companies to process the information of individuals, including the Data Subject. Their purpose is for Data Subjects to have more privacy, freedom, transparency, and control over their personal data used by third parties.
Personal Data	It is the data relating to a natural person, which can identify them or make them identifiable within a certain context. The following can be cited as examples of Personal Data: Name, National Identification Number, home address, phone number, e-mail address, IP address, etc.
Special Data	It is any information about racial or ethnic origin, religious conviction, political opinion, membership of a trunion or organization of a religious, philosophical or political nature, data relating to health or sex life, genetic or biometric data, when linked to a natural person.
Processing	These are the operations that BTG does or may do with Personal Data, including, but not limited to, the following activities: collection, storage, consultation, usage, sharing, classification, reproduction, processing, and evaluation of this data.

Consent	It is the case in which the Data Subject authorizes the processing of Personal Data through free, informed, and unequivocal expression, agreeing to the processing of their Personal Data for a specific purpose informed by BTG.
Opt-in/Opt-out	It is the granting/revocation of consent by the Data Subject when processing is based on this legal basis. The Data Subject indicates that they agree to the use of their data (opt-in), or that they wish to revoke authorization (opt-out). Withdrawal of consent does not affect the lawfulness of any previous processing.
BTG	It is the controller of your Personal Data: BANCO BTG PACTUAL S.A., a financial institution headquartered at Praia de Botafogo, nº 501, 5 th floor, part, in the city of Rio de Janeiro, State of Rio de Janeiro, registered with the CNPJ/ME under No. 30.306.294/0001-45
Economic Group	It is BTG's economic group, constituted by all the companies controlled by, controlling or under common control with BTG, in compliance with the definition of control provided by the Brazilian corporate law.
Data Subject	The natural person to whom the Personal Data belongs and refers, who may be a customer or user of our Platform.
Platform ou Platforms	These are the websites and applications owned by BTG.
Products e Services	These are all the services and products offered by BTG, with a financial and banking focus, including insurance, pension plans, brokerage, and checking accounts.
Policy	It is this BTG Pactual Privacy Policy.

4. Why does BTG Pactual process my personal data?

BTG is committed to always offer the best services, believing in the user's power of choice. The protection of personal data involves not only a commitment to data security and respect for privacy, but also the compromise of the Data Subject's control over their personal data.

The customers' personal information is collected, primarily, to provide the contracted services, such as banking and insurance services. For this purpose, BTG collects the personal data provided by the customer when registering on BTG Pactual's platforms, carrying out financial transactions and contacting or interacting with us through our products or communication channels.

These are just a few examples of how BTG uses personal data in a lawful manner and in accordance with your expectations, always respecting the legal basis for the processing. BTG Pactual is committed to the protection of its customers' data and aims to minimize the amount of personal information with which it comes into contact, whenever possible.

If you have any questions, you may contact us through the communication channels indicated in this Policy.

5. How does BTG collect your personal data and what type of data is collected?

The types of Personal Data and how BTG collects it depends on how the customer interacts with us. For example, the personal data collected will be different if the customer wishes to invest in the financial market, purchase insurance or open a checking account.

Once such data is necessary for the provision of the contracted services and products, BTG defines the appropriate manner for collecting, using, retaining, and processing the data in accordance with the guidelines established by the applicable laws and regulations.

To learn more about these data types and their respective purposes, please refer to the table of personal data below, which defines how the data are processed by BTG Pactual.

In certain situations, additional information may be collected, including special data. For example, in the case of curated customers or people with disabilities, information may be collected to verify these conditions so that personalized and accessible Products and Services can be offered. Or, in the case of a life insurance policy, it may be necessary to obtain health information in order to properly provide the service.

To offer certain products or services, such as opening an account for a minor, children or adolescents' personal data may be requested. BTG Pactual affirms that the processing of personal data of children and adolescents will be carried out in their best interests and in compliance with the legal basis for the processing.

Personal data may also be used in automated processes or systems based on Artificial Intelligence to provide Products and Services. BTG is constantly working to ensure the best quality results.

6. Cookies: What are they and how does BTG use them?

Cookies are small text files stored in web browsers or devices. Cookies allow us to recognize the users' preferences and adapt BTG's website to the visitors' specific needs.

Cookies usually have an expiration date. Some cookies are automatically deleted upon closing the web browser (called session cookies), while others might be stored for longer in the computer until they are manually deleted (named persistent cookies). BTG uses the following types of cookies:

- strictly necessary cookies, so that BTG's website functions correctly, authenticating logins for example. It is not possible to refuse these cookies if the user wishes to access the website;
- performance cookies, to enhance website content, providing information on how it is being used in order to improve the user experience. They automatically collect certain Personal Data to identify, for example, how many times a specific page was accessed; and
- marketing cookies, so BTG can provide the best offers of Products and Services to users according to their interests.

It is important to highlight that BTG is not responsible for cookies used by third parties. Be aware that cookies used by third parties may eventually continue to monitor the user's online activities even after leaving BTG's website, so it is recommended to manually delete them.

If you wish to remove cookies installed in your computer, it is possible to manually delete them through the settings available in the browser, as instructed, for example, by Google Chrome, Mozilla Firefox, Microsoft Edge or Safari. Note, however, that some website functionalities might become unavailable after deleting certain cookies.

7. With whom does BTG share my personal data?

Sometimes it is necessary to share Data Subject's personal data with third parties that provide services to BTG Pactual. It is the case, for example, with providers contracted to host databases or for auditing. Some situations are described below, considering the context of BTG, in which customers' Personal Data may be shared:

Providers. BTG Pactual relies on the help of providers who can process the Personal Data that is collected. BTG always seeks to carefully evaluate the providers and enter contractual obligations for the protection of Personal Data and information security with them, in order to minimize risks to Data

Subjects. Depending on the activity they perform, such as in cases of accessing customer information, BTG may request the providers' Personal Data for verification to establish their good reputation, always aiming to process as little Personal Data as possible. Among these providers are, for example, companies with public databases hired to assist in credit analysis for when you open an account or contract a credit operation; card manufacturing and processing companies; investment software companies; among others.

Analytics. Data stored by BTG may be used for statistical purposes (analytics), to understand who are the people that visit the website and that are consumers of our Products and Services. This data is anonymized and is not used to identify Data Subjects nor make them identifiable, but only to better comprehend how they access BTG's Digital Platform to improve the provision of services and customize products directed according to their interests.

Public Authorities. As a financial institution, BTG Pactual is subject to regulations and the obligations imposed by them. Hence, if an authority with legal competence, such as BACEN, CVM or Procon, requires BTG to share certain personal data, for example, to meet regulatory needs, it is necessary to share this information, if applicable to BTG Pactual's activity. It is important to highlight that BTG is against any abuse of authority and, should BTG understand that a certain order is abusive, it will always privilege the privacy of its customers.

Rights protection. BTG Pactual reserves the right to share any personal data that it believes to be necessary to comply with a legal obligation, enforce the Terms of Use, or otherwise protect the rights of BTG Pactual, its employees and customers.

Economic group. In case the customer is interested or may be interested in the services of other companies in the BTG economic group, it is possible to share customers' personal data with the companies of the economic group or with other companies or people trusted to process the information for this purpose. In these cases, the processing of Personal Data will be protected and supported by the applicable legal instruments.

Business Partners. It is also possible to share customers' personal data, such as registration information or browsing data or use of the Platform, with our business partners or with other trusted companies or people (such as administrators and/or investment fund managers) to process such information for purposes of providing services that interest or may interest customers.

If you have any questions regarding these companies or our providers, you can contact BTG Pactual through the channels provided in this Policy.

8. Does BTG transfer Personal Data to other countries?

As mentioned in the previous item, BTG Pactual may share customers' personal information with employees, representatives and affiliated or partner companies of BTG based outside your country of residence to provide BTG services to its customers. It is possible, for example, to transfer personal data to the company responsible for hosting databases, whose headquarters are located abroad.

These transfers only involve companies that demonstrate compliance with applicable data protection laws and maintain a similar or stricter level of compliance than provided for in the applicable law or regulation. In addition, the transferred data may only be processed, under the terms of this Policy and BTG's corporate rules, for the provision of our services or fulfillment of the company's purpose.

If you have any questions about these companies, feel free to contact us through the channels provided in this Policy.

9. What are your rights as a data subject?

The personal data is property of the Data Subjects, and the applicable privacy laws and regulations guarantee a series of rights relating to data protection. BTG Pactual is committed to fulfilling these rights and, in this section, it is possible to locate how the Data Subject may exercise them with BTG:

Confirmation and Access	The Data Subject can verify whether BTG processes their Personal Data and, if so, request a copy of the Personal Data.
Correction/Rectification	It allows the Data Subject to request the correction of incomplete, inaccurate, or outdated Personal Data.
Anonymization, blocking or deletion	It allows the Data Subject to ask to (a) anonymize their data, so that it can no longer be linked to the Data Subject; (b) block their Data, temporarily suspending the possibility of process it; and (c) delete their Data.
Portability	The Data Subject has the right to request, upon express request, that BTG provide them, or a third party of their choice, with their Personal Data in a structured and interoperable format, for transfer to another service or product provider, as long as it does not violate the intellectual property or business secrets of the company.
Information about sharing	The Data Subject has the right to know about the public and private entities with which BTG shares data. BTG Pactual will maintain in this Policy information about the types of partners with whom the data is shared. In any case, if the Data Subject has any questions or wants more details, they have the right to ask this information.
Information about the possibility of not consenting	It allows the Data Subject to have clear and complete information about the possibility and consequences of not providing consent. Their consent, when necessary, must be free and informed. Therefore, whenever asked for consent, the Data Subject is free to deny it – even if, in such cases, it may be necessary to limit the Services available.
Withdrawal of Consent	The Data Subject has the right to withdraw their consent in relation to processing activities that are based on consent. However, this will not affect the lawfulness of any previous processing. If the Data Subject withdraws their consent, it may not be possible to continue providing certain Services.
Automated Decision Review	The Data Subject has the right to request the review of automated decisions that may affect their interests.

BTG Pactual is committed to responding to any Data Subject request, within the limits of the applicable regulations.

If the Data Subject has any questions about these issues or how to exercise these rights, please contact us through the channels provided in this Policy.

10. How long will personal data be stored for?

BTG Pactual stores and maintains information: (i) for as long as required by law; (ii) until the end of the processing of personal data, as mentioned below; or (iii) for the time necessary to preserve BTG's legitimate interest. Therefore, the data will be processed, for example, during the applicable statute of limitations periods or for as long as necessary to comply with a legal or regulatory obligation.

The end of the processing of personal data will cease in the following cases:

- When the purpose for which the Data Subject's personal data were collected has been achieved and/or the Personal Data collected is no longer necessary or relevant to achieve such purpose;
- When the Data Subject has the right to request the termination of the processing and the deletion of their Personal Data and they do so; and
- When there is a legal determination to this effect.

In these cases of termination of processing of personal data, with the exception of the processing basis established by applicable legislation or by this Privacy Policy, the personal data will be deleted.

11. What are BTG Pactual's responsibilities and how are personal data protected?

BTG Pactual's responsibility is to take care of the personal data collected and to use it for lawful purposes, as described in this Policy. To ensure the privacy and the protection of your personal data, BTG Pactual adopts the appropriate security practices for its market, including:

- encryption and double authentication systems in the Platforms environments;
- training and awareness programs to keep the employees updated on how to avoid risks to the Data Subject and identify threats and malicious activities;
- controls and access privileges to personal data, so that each employee can only access the data strictly necessary for the performance of their duties;
- control and preventive monitoring of security incidents, including data leakage, carried out by our Information Security team and by automated security tools recognized by the market;
- drafting and executing an internal audit plan, which considers both risk and regulatory audits; and
- establishing disciplinary measures in case of data privacy violations, as deemed necessary, including termination.

BTG Pactual works to protect the personal data to which it has access. Unauthorized entry or use of your account by third parties, hardware or software failure that's not under the control of BTG and other factors may compromise the security of your personal data. For this reason, the actions of the Data Subject are fundamental to maintaining a safe environment for everyone. The Data Subject may help by adopting security best practices in relation to their data (such as not sharing passwords with third parties, for example), and if they identify or become aware of something that compromises the security of their data, please contact BTG Pactual through the Data Protection Officer, whose contact channels can be found in this Policy.

12. How to contact BTG about Personal Data?

If the Data Subject believes that their personal data has been used in a way that is incompatible with this Privacy Policy or with their choices as Data Subject, or if they have any questions, comments or suggestions related to this Policy, they may contact BTG through the channel indicated below. BTG Pactual has a Data Protection Officer (DPO) who is available at the following contact addresses:

Data Protection Officer: Gabriel Borges

E-mail Address: SH-Privacidade@btgpactual.com

Mailing Address: Praia de Botafogo, 501/5º floor – Rio de Janeiro – RJ – 22250-040

13. Changes to the Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy may be updated to reflect any improvements made. Therefore, BTG Pactual recommends that you visit this page periodically so that you are aware of any changes made.
